Big Roll Bingo

WARNING:

CHOKING HAZARD—Small parts.
Not for children under 3 years.

For 2 to 6 Players,
Ages 4 and up

Rules

Object:

Be the first player to place five tokens in a row—either horizontally, vertically or diagonally – by rolling the dice and covering the matching squares on your bingo card.

Contents:

- 6 bingo cards
- 3 big dice:
 - one with B, I, N, G, O and Hello Kitty.
 - one with pictures of Hello Kitty, Lorry, Kathy, Daniel, flowers and a gumball machine.
 - one with three blank sides, Move Left, Take Token, Give Token.
- 60 tokens

Set Up:

Each player takes a bingo card and places one token on the center “Free Space” square.

In the basic game players will be using the letters/Hello Kitty game die and the pictures die only. The youngest player starts by rolling those two dice then looks at his or her game card to see if they can place a token. Example: with a roll of “B” and “Lorry”, the player would look for a picture of Lorry in the B column on his/her card and place a token on that square.

If a column has more than one of the pictures shown on the game die, the player chooses only one picture to cover. That ends the turn, and the next player goes.

If a column does not have any of the pictures shown on the game die, the player ends his turn and the player to the left goes.

Hello Kitty:

When a player rolls Hello Kitty, he or she can choose any one of the five columns and cover the matching picture on the other game die. So if you roll Hello Kitty and the flowers, you can cover up any one picture of flowers on your card.

Ending and Winning the Game:

The first player to cover five squares in a row on his/her card is the winner and should shout "Bingo!" to let the other players know that they've won.

For Older Players:

On every turn, also roll the third game die.

- If you roll a blank side, play the game the same as above, looking at the other two dice to see if you can place a token on your card.
- If you roll a Take Token, take one token from any player's card and place it on the same picture it was on—but in any column on your card.
- If you roll a Give Token, remove one token from your card and place it on the same picture it was on – but in any column on another player's card.
- If you roll a Move Left, ALL players leave their cards where they are, but move themselves to where the player to their left is. Everyone will now be playing the game using these cards.

Note: When you roll Take, Give or Move, you only follow those actions and do not follow instructions from the other two dice.
